EARN $100 BY HELPING US DESIGN A PARENTING GAME!

Project Led by the National Prevention Science Coalition to Improve Lives (www.npscoalition.org)

Your clients often have concerns about how to help their teen or pre-teen manage their behavior and emotions.

THERE IS GOOD NEWS!

Triple P provides additional support to parents that reinforces the treatment you provide.

Triple P covers useful topics such as...

1. How to build a better relationship between teens and parents
2. How to elicit more appropriate behaviors from teens
3. How to improve parents coping skills and reduce their stress
4. How to deal with a teen's risky behaviors (e.g., drugs/alcohol, skipping school, violence)

Because this program is so popular and effective, we've decided to create a game out of it! We need your help in designing the game so it will be fun, engaging, and relevant. Your input will be completely confidential.

You are eligible to participate if:

- ✓ You work with parents who struggle with problems from substance use.
- ✓ You are willing to spend 1 hour to help us design a game focused on parenting.

What will you receive?

- ✓ We will pay you $100 to participate in a focus group along with other providers. We will walk you through the design for the game, the characters, and the script and ask for your feedback and advice.

We are currently scheduling focus groups. Please let us know your availability using this link: https://bit.ly/3OTzVjT
