

A Reflection by Doreen Fraser, Director

As a nurse who worked in end-of-life care, it seemed a natural progression to volunteer with the growing Powell River Hospice Society when I retired. Hospice is not a new part of my life as hospice care enabled my grandmother to stay at home to die. I also received grief support after the passing of my sons. Both events impacted my understanding of the need for community hospice services.

Living to the fullest while meeting the struggles of a life-ending illness can be overwhelming. This is where the Hospice Society can step in and offer support.

I have been honoured to work with the Board for the past two years. If you are looking for become involved, please contact our office at 604 223 7309 or at powellriverhospice@gmail.com.
