

Advanced Satir Workshop: Working with Couples and Families in Thailand

During 14-18 February 2022, The Satir Association, Thailand invited Jennifer Nagel to lead this workshop with Thai facilitators. 64 participants from Thailand and Singapore joined this workshop.

This program was experiential, and interactive and explored systemic ways of working with relationships and families.

It was 5 days of learning and experiencing Satir Transformational Systemic Therapy to facilitate participants to be more confident, more competent, and more congruent to use Satir while they are with the couples and families.

On behalf of the Satir Association Thailand, I would like to express my deepest appreciation to Jennifer Nagel who led this impressive workshop for the Satir Community in Thailand and all facilitators, Staff members and all participants for contribution and co-creating the beautiful energy in the workshop.

From Jennifer: In February 2023 I travelled to Thailand to teach a 5-day program to a group of 64 psychiatrists, doctors, psychologists, counsellors and coaches on using the Satir Transformational Systemic Therapy with couples and families. The participants were so willing and open to looking at their own selves and the unfinished business in their own relationships that was sometimes getting in their way. It was such a privilege and honour for me to witness and hold space for their journey, along with the support of an amazing teaching team of facilitators, organizers, and translators. I am grateful for the experience and look forward to returning to Thailand in 2024
