INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

Creating “uncommon opportunity” for PVAMU students “committed to the path they have chosen.”

“The basis of a democratic state is liberty. ... Liberty and equality will be best attained in a democracy when all persons share in the government to the utmost.”

– Aristotle

Panthers on INTERNSHIP

Objectives:

The Capitol Hill Internship Program is designed to provide access to:

- Understand the policy-making process and how policy affects society.
- Develop skills and competencies in political professions, plus an opportunity to explore career interests and form networks.
- Apply academic coursework knowledge and examine firsthand how theories learned in the classroom impact society and the world.

Interns will also provide valuable assistance to their hosting Congressional Office.

Academics:

Stay on track for graduation:

- Interns are required to enroll in POSC 4153* – Internship in Political Science
- Students may also enroll in POSC 4993 or 4143 – Legislative Process Independent Study or select from eight core, support area, or major requirements courses offered online. Enrollment in more than six (6) cumulative hours requires Faculty Advisor approval

**Enrollment in POSC 4153 will classify the student as full-time with the Registrar's office.*

Note that the criteria for a full-time classification for Financial Aid is a separate determination.

Benefits:

Experience Washington D.C., one of the most vibrant and historical cities in the world.

The Program offers:

- Summer, Fall and Spring term internships
- Stipends to help defray travel and living expenses
- Housing provided at no cost to the intern

SPONSORS AND FINANCIAL PARTNERS

PVAMU formally recognizes US Congressman Cleaver and the Washington DC Alumni Chapter (Program Sponsor) for its financial partnership with the National Alumni Association and PVAM Foundation to deliver this internship as an integral University program benefitting our students.

“At the 2017 PVAMF Gala Dr. Ruth Simmons (PVAMU President) said, “students are hungry to learn, anxious to excel, and increasingly committed to the path they have chosen.” We wholeheartedly agree! It is an especially important time in US history to ensure our students are afforded an “uncommon opportunity” as US Congressional interns – to promote preparedness to take their rightful place as our future leaders in public service at the national level.”

Pamela Hodge, President,
Washington DC Chapter
PVAMU NAA

“We strongly believe that students from ‘The Hill’ should have the uncommon opportunity to receive this experience ...”

Warmest regards,
