

NAMIC Honors Denver and Carolinas Chapters

Teaser: The New York Marriott Marquis was a buzz with accolades at the 2017 Annual NAMIC Awards, presented as part of Diversity Week and celebrating chapter leadership across the Charter footprint.

By Monique Peyser

The Denver and Carolinas chapters of the National Association for Multi-Ethnicity in Communications (NAMIC) were honored during the 31st Annual NAMIC Conference in New York City. NAMIC-Denver received the 2017 Chapter of the Year-Superior Merit award while NAMIC-Carolinas was the recipient of the Programming Achievement Award.

“It is truly an honor to win this prestigious award with the NAMIC-Denver Chapter,” said Garth David, Senior Manager, Financial Planning & Analysis and Denver Chapter Advisor. “This is my fourth Chapter of the Year award and I am extremely proud to share the best practices and leadership skills that I acquired with my fellow chapter leaders across Charter footprint.”

NAMIC is at the forefront of driving ethnic diversity in the communications industry helping to facilitate the personal and professional development of individuals from across the multi-ethnic spectrum. A network of 18 regional chapters work year-round to produce educational programming to ensure members receive the most value for their NAMIC membership.

“I truly believe that the importance of diversity and inclusion in today’s workforce is prevalent,” said Judy Brown, Senior Field Engineer Business Analyst. “I am honored to be the Vice President of NAMIC-Denver and I am proud that I represent Charter Field Engineering Construction.”

Garth said this year's conference was remarkable for Charter's NAMIC members who heard from Chief Diversity Officer Rhonda Crichlow as she joined other diversity leaders in a panel discussion. In March of this year, Rhonda and Cheryl Manley, Senior Vice President, Employment Law were chosen to serve on NAMIC's Board of Advisors and Board of Directors.

Read story.

NAMIC-Denver also received the 2017 award for Membership Growth & Retention. For more information about NAMIC and its membership opportunities, click here.

Captions:

#1: NAMIC-Denver Chapter Advisor Garth David with Chapter Vice President Judy Brown at the 2017 NAMIC Awards Luncheon in New York City.

#2: NAMIC-Carolinas Chapter President Monica Alexander accepted the award for Programming Achievement.