

Internships Funding for Workers and Students – March 1 deadline

The International Plant Propagators' Society-Eastern Region Foundation (IPPS-ERF) is proud to offer funds to support internship experiences related to nursery production, plant propagation, or plant collections for students or nursery and gardens employees with 5 years or less experience. Grants are for up to $1,000 to support travel, housing, wages, or educational expenses (such as a conference or specific training) to enhance their overall internship experience. The successful candidate(s) will receive the grant in the form of a reimbursement for expenses incurred during the internship experience. Receipts are required. The deadline for submitting a proposal is March 1, 2021.

Proposals should include your resume, the name of a contact person from the company, garden or institution where the candidate will work, the purpose for the funding request, and a detailed budget. You can apply online here

Successful applicants will be notified by March 15. Successful candidates are encouraged to present their experience at an annual IPPS-Eastern Region Conference and are required to provide a one-page report on their experience for the IPPS-ER Newsletter and Proceedings.

What is IPPS-ER Foundation?

The IPPS Eastern Region Foundation was created in 2004 to support research and education in ornamental horticulture. IPPS Eastern Region provides a forum for sharing plant production knowledge to enhance the professionalism, knowledge and skills of its members.

Proposal submissions or questions regarding internship grants should be directed to the Foundation Internship Committee Chair, Ron Amos at IPPSERintern@gmail.com.

The Foundation's programs for scholarships, research grants and internships are announced in the IPPS-ER monthly newsletter and by email to members, academics and students. If you want to be added to the newsletter list, register here. Membership is free to students for a limited time period.
