Yours, Mine and Ours: Developing Relationships with Schools

July 14, 2021 6:30-8:00

The children that schools and School Age Child Care providers educate and care for each day are the same, however too rarely do we collaborate on their behalf. By working with schools, School Age Care providers working together provides benefits for children, families, the school, and our programs. Strong relationships with area schools also helps assure child care providers a seat at the table as districts decide how to allocate funds they receive for after school and summer enrichment through the American Rescue Plan.

In this virtual session we will share best practices as well as your successes around relationships with schools. We will also talk about how your participation in STARS can be part of your discussion about the standards aligned, quality programs you provide.

Participants will receive a “sack” of gym equipment plus school bazaar or field day activity ideas great for collaborating in school special events!

Please RSVP Rhea Simmons at rsimmons@childcareconsultants by July 12th.
