

This voter-approved funding will not only help the Fairfax County Park Authority and the Northern Virginia Regional Park Authority in maintaining existing facilities and parks, but will allow our Park Authority to continue to expand and protect natural and historical resources across the County.

Most of our 427 parks across over 32,000 acres of park land are free to the public and park bonds help the County keep it this way. Fairfax County's parks and trails are truly for everyone. I'm honored to support the FCPA's efforts to further develop not only a state-of-the-art parks network, but an equitable and accessible one as well."
