

Pastured Poultry

Health, Nutrition and Business

Wednesday June 12, 2019

9:00 AM-3:00 PM

420 S. Broadway, Escondido, CA 92025

Want to Improve your Pastured or Free-Range Poultry Business?

Organized by the University of California Cooperative Extension, UC Davis & the National Center for Appropriate Technology (NCAT), and hosted by UCCE San Diego County and the San Diego County Farm Bureau.

- Poultry diseases and nutrition -- Dr. Maurice Pitesky, UC Davis
- Regulations for Eggs and Meat -- Ann Baier, NCAT / ATTRA Sustainable Agriculture Program
- Business and Marketing of Pasture-raised Meats -- Paul Grieve, Primal Pastures, local pastured poultry producer.

There will be opportunities for questions and answers, and time for networking with new and experienced farmers.

Watch for information in your inbox about other upcoming workshops, or visit Events: <https://ucanr.edu/sites/poultry/events/> and www.ncat.org/events

Other Dates & Locations:

- July 11 in Davis, CA
- Salinas, CA, summer date TBA, workshop in Spanish
- East Bay area, summer date TBA, scaling backyard to commercial

Cost: $20 including lunch and educational materials

To Register <https://ucanr.edu/survey/survey.cfm?surveynumber=21362>

For more information, contact NCAT Specialist Ann Baier by email annb@ncat.org or call 530-792-7338 or Ramiro Lobo at relobo@ucanr.edu by email or 858-246-1860. If you require a fee waiver, please contact Anny Huang at asahuang@ucdavis.edu. We don't want anyone missing out on information because they are unable to afford the course!

Since 1976, the National Center for Appropriate Technology (NCAT) has been helping people by championing small-scale, local and sustainable solutions to reduce poverty, promote healthy communities and protect natural resources. More information about its programs and services is available at www.ncat.org or by calling 1-800-ASK-NCAT.

