As mayor and first lady, we know that no decision about the future of Jackson is more important than the ones that involve the children of Jackson.

And we know you love your young children just like we love ours.

But research tells us that even young children can have social and emotional challenges.

Let’s make sure all of Jackson’s children are healthy.

We want families to know how to support their young children’s emotional health and how to tell if their child might need extra help. We know the best way to support young children is to partner with their families.

With the right help, children can and do get better.

PLACES TO GET MORE SUPPORT
Call and talk to your child’s doctor or teacher.
Help Me Grow Warmline for info about child development and screening: 1-800-241-KIDS (5437)
First Steps program at 1-800-451-3903.
Zero to Three at 1-800-899-430.

HOW WE CAN SUPPORT YOU
- Talk to another parent who’s been in your shoes.
- Find out about resources, support, and training.
- Learn about developmental wheels and other tools for seeing how your child is developing.

WHERE CAN YOU TURN FOR SUPPORT?
Contact Families as Allies to talk to another parent who has been in your shoes. Find out from them about resources, support, and training. They can also help you get developmental wheels and other tools you can use to see how your child is developing.

- Are you worried about how your baby is doing?
- Has someone told you that your child’s development is falling behind?
- Do you keep getting calls from day care or school about your young child?
