

Lawn bowling is making a score in Bloomfield!

It was a Watsessing Park tradition starting in the 1920s and many a champion was produced there. Now, lawn bowling is available on astro-turf through the newly formed Essex County Lawn Bowling Club, headquartered in Bloomfield.

On Monday, May 15, the club's organizers will hold a meet-and-greet at the Civic Center to introduce themselves and the sport. Videos will be shown and all questions will be answered. Time: 7 to 8 p.m.

Then, on Wednesday, May 17, anyone interested can go to Watsessing Park to try the sport with club coaches.

The club holds regular bowling sessions on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5:30 to 8 p.m., as well as weekend sessions — all depending on the weather. The season normally runs from May through October. Lessons and borrowed club equipment are available to newcomers. Members can also participate in club and division tournaments.
