

Pop-up art gallery comes to Broad St.

A pop-up art gallery has come to 378 Broad Street (next to the Town Pub). The Recreation Department has turned an empty storefront into an artistic haven where residents of all ages can share their artwork. The gallery was established in late October and will continue until spring, with new displays every six weeks.

First up is an exhibit featuring five local photographers: Mike Stella, Anthony DiMatteo, Laura McKeon, Susan Dick-McKeon, and soon to be added, Veronica Yankowski.

Paintings, jewelry, sculpture and more will be featured in upcoming exhibits. If you are interested in sharing your artwork, contact Gabriela Guida at Recreation, (973) 743-9074, or e-mail her at gguida@bloomfieldtwpnj.com.
