DASH'S RECEIPTS FUNDRAISER to BENEFIT WOMEN'S NETWORK

Our Dash's receipt program has emerged as an unqualified success. In case you are unaware of how this amazingly painless fundraiser works- here's the plan. Simply save your Dash's receipts. Turn them into the synagogue office when convenient. We collate them and take them back to Dash's office. They then send us a generous rebate check.

Thank you very much for your efforts. Thank you for asking your friends and neighbors to assist in this wonderful program

From the Rabbi

As we are about to begin reading the book of Exodus at synagogue, we are introduced to key examples of how water became an ultimate symbol of both life and death in the Jewish tradition, how an element so essential can reflect both our best possibilities and worst experiences.

In a few brief sentences near the beginning of the book, we read that Pharaoh tells his advisers to “deal shrewdly” with the Israelites to prevent them from rising up against the Egyptians in battle. Many commentators ask, what is so shrewd about oppressing a people by force? Does this reflect strategy, or just brutality?

Rashi believes that the word "shrewdly" does not refer to enslavement itself, but rather the subsequent decision to kill all male Israelites by drowning them in the Nile River. He believes that Pharaoh knows the Israelite story of the flood, in which God promises that water would never be used to destroy the earth again. Since the Israelites themselves know of this covenant, they would not suspect that anything would happen to their baby sons in the Nile. Rashi's theory is only just that. But whether or not Pharaoh knows exactly what he is doing, his policy is effective, as water becomes a place of death for our ancestors.

But we later find that water is also a symbol for life. When God tells Moses of the plans to liberate the Israelites from slavery, God foresees Pharaoh ignoring Moses' pleas for freedom. God hints that the very first plague will involve turning the Nile into blood. Even God cannot ignore how the water can bring the Israelites hope in the face of death.

We see today that water is both dangerous and life-giving. The extreme severity of storms – some of which we've experienced in Buffalo in recent weeks – coupled with environmentalist concerns about the future of icecaps and our shorelines, remind us of the hardship that water can cause. At the same time, we need it more than ever. Doctors and nutritionists almost unanimously teach how essential water is to our diets. Even though this nation never seems to run out of soda, most people admit that water is the one beverage we can never do without. The need for water has informed so many important decisions, not the least of which have included the peace treaties in the Middle East, which have often hinged on nations agreeing on fair ways to get access to water.

So we see that water can be a source of pain or prosperity, depending on how we use it. As we have started a new year, we are best served when we remember that, just like water or any other key element, each human being has the power of both life and death, both the opportunity for success and the prospect of failure, both the chance for joy and possibility of sorrow. And so, let us turn to words near the end of the Torah: choose life.

From the President

Snow fell in cyclone bomb proportions in Western New York. When I looked out my kitchen window during the blizzard, all I could see were mounds of white. Now I can see tracks in my backyard. I know those tracks are caused by the deer and rabbits who live nearby. We used to see them all the time, but something has changed and now we see only the tracks.

Just as in my backyard, there are tracks throughout Temple Beth Tzedek. The tracks are the result of the many committees working to keep us focused on prayer, study, togetherness, and logistics.

Our Ritual Committee has been discussing how people are called to the Torah – bar/bat or MiBeit. You will hear more about that topic in upcoming communications and you can decide how you wish to be called.

Our Library Committee is beginning the arduous task of cataloging the books and trying to find a satisfactory way to keep track of which books are borrowed.

Our Kitchen Committee worked long and hard to write policies for the use of our newly remodeled kitchen to make sure it stays safe, clean, and kosher.

The Keshet Committee works hard to be sure those who are alone get a call or a visit, those who are ill are offered help, those who are seen differently are seen as the wonderful people they are.

The Finance Committee is overseeing every aspect of the budget to be presented to the congregation at our annual meeting in May.

The Education Committee is planning our next Klein Scholar in Residence Weekend.

The Life and Legacy Committee is reaching out to be sure we will have funds to maintain our congregation beyond our own lifetimes.

The Membership Committee welcomes our new members with gifts at Hanukkah and planning programs to keep us all engaged.

The House Committee pays attention to all that we see and that which we do not see, making sure our facilities are well maintained.

The Youth Education Committee plans and executes programs for all our youth from toddler to college.

The Museum Committee unpacked all the items that have been in storage and filled the two new cases. The social hall is now clearly marked as a Jewish place.

And there are more committees! Each committee is led and populated by dedicated volunteers. Thank you to every person who takes time to make Temple Beth Tzedek the congregation that it is. Are you helping to make tracks? Find a committee to join.

Just as in my backyard, something has changed at Temple Beth Tzedek. COVID and blizzard caused us to close temporarily and when we did reopen, it was with reduced attendance. We are open. We are making tracks. Come, be with us.

L'Shalom. Linda Boxer, President

Tu B'Shevat is the 15th day of the Jewish month of Shevat. It is also known as the New Year for Trees. This year it is celebrated on Monday, February 6, 2023.

Please join with us as the Women's Network of Temple Beth Tzedek invites you to participate in a Tu B'Shevat Seder on Sunday morning, February 5 at 11:00 AM. During the seder, we will sample different types of fruits, nuts and grain that are eaten at this time and drink 4 glasses of wine (or grape juice) to represent the changing seasons and the four parts of the seder.

Our program will be a hybrid presentation meaning you can come in person (weather permitting) or participate via zoom. Our presentation will be interactive and we will be using the JNF Environmental Haggadah for Tu B'Shevat. A packet including the Haggadah and foods we will be tasting will be available for pickup during the week prior to the program at Temple Beth Tzedek, 1641 N. Forest Rd. for those who have made a reservation. If you will be on zoom, the Haggadah will be sent to you for downloading as well as the list of foods we will taste.

Reservations must be made by Sunday, January 29, 2023 with Rusty Zackheim, irisz@aol.com or 716-634-6028 or Beth Kassirer, bkassirer@aol.com or 716-316-7000. Please include your email if you will be on zoom. The zoom link will be sent prior to the program. The cost for the program will be $5 if you attend in person and donations will be accepted from those who participate on zoom.

Mah Koreh B'CRS?
From the desk of Einav Symons

CRS students are busy! December provided opportunities to learn and celebrate Chanukah, both as a school and as part of the greater Buffalo Jewish community! There was also a beautiful Havdalah at TBZ for students in grades pre-k to 2nd grade led by Rabbi Gutmann. The Madrichim (Grades 8-12) gathered for an ice-cream social on a Sunday afternoon and had an opportunity to share how they see and express their own Jewish identity. In December, six students in our Better 2 Learn Program travelled to Brandeis (all-expense paid) and participated with teens from around the country in a 4-day intensive study.

Our Hebrew 1-1 tutors continue advancing at a great pace with their students. Yishar Koach! Our grades 6th and 7th students are engrossed in a pottery project with Cathy Shuman Miller. They will be making mezuzot, some of which will be donated to Jewish families in our community. At CRS, we also had family programs for grades 1-4 in the month of January. These family education opportunities allow for parents to meet each other and learn together, alongside their children. The school-wide Tu Bishvat program on February 5th at the Niagara Power Vista with Link will be a new twist on celebrating the environment.

CRS is excited to partner with TBZ (1/20) and TBT (1/27) for a Shabbat dinners and service. The annual Wine-Tasting Havdalah is also being revived after COVID and is scheduled for February 11th at TBT.

Thank you to the Education Committee and the Leadership group who are making this year so fantastic at CRS!

The Community Religious School serves the students of Temple Beth Tzedek, Temple Beth Zion, Congregation Shir Shalom and unaffiliated families. CRS provides engaging curriculum on Sundays and convenient private, remote Hebrew lessons to students from 1st through 7th grade.
