

Date		Title	Brief Description	Speaker
24-Jul	2019	Study design	Define the research question, from a question to a hypothesis. Develop specific aims to test the hypothesis. Discuss the FINER and PICOT criteria for devising a specific aim.	Muehlschlegel
21-Aug	2019	Opportunities for research for full-time Clinicians	We will discuss opportunities for clinicians to access existing Departmental infrastructure, utilize publicly available databases, and engage mentors to perform valuable research.	Bateman
25-Sep	2019	IRB: Nuts and Bolts	We will provide an understanding of the purpose of the IRB as well as its workings, giving concrete examples with actual submissions, and tips and tricks to navigate the system.	Tsen
27-Nov	2019	Statistics for the clinician	We will introduce basic concepts in statistics, including sample size and power estimations that should be kept in mind when designing a study. We will also introduce easy-to-access, and easy-to-use software to estimate sample size and power.	Fields
26-Feb	2020	Publication: From inception to acceptance	We will elaborate on the steps to go from initial study design to having a published manuscript. This will include picking the right journal, submission, the review process, the response to review, and public access policies.	Urman
25-Mar	2020	Promotion: Why, how, when	Discuss the different promotion tracks at Harvard. Why it's desirable to get promoted. Explain the steps and the timeline.	Culley
27-May	2020	Navigating an academic career	We will discuss strategies for applications as well as how to plan for the first 5 years of a junior attending career. Negotiation skills, networking, and tips & tricks for a happy and successful career.	Bader