

Main Street Theatre

Since 1992 Main Street Theatre has been in a variety of locations in Rock Hill and has gone through multiple changes. The founding member of the group Terry Roueche has continued for the past 30 years to bring original theatre to Rock Hill. That journey now continues at Grace Lutheran Church. Since fall of 2021 the group has been meeting at Grace to work on original plays by local playwrights. Main Street Theatre will be doing their first public performances since the pandemic closed their space. The Fellowship Hall of Grace on the weekend of September 23-24th will be the place to see good theatre (directed by Annie Laurie Wheat), live original music (by Steve Simpson), a photography exhibit with five local artists represented and free light refreshments at intermission.

Main Street Theatre is very thankful that Grace Lutheran Church has opened their doors to allow an outside group to find a new home in a beautiful location. To show their appreciation Grace members get a discount if they identify themselves at the ticket desk.
