

With so many distractions removed and priorities reemerging, people are thirsting for the Lord in ways we have not seen. The trend we're hearing from all over the U.S. is that church attendance via livestream is actually outpacing the in-person attendance many churches were experiencing before the Covid pandemic. More people are tuning in...more people are listening...more people are seeking...and more people will be walking through church doors when restrictions are lifted.

Engage your congregation virtually so they can learn about obedience to Christ with finances and breaking bondage of financial strongholds.
