Puppy raisers are VOLUNTEER foster families, from all walks of life, who nurture and care for their pups until they are about 14- to 16-months-old. When Seeing Eye puppies reach the age of seven or eight weeks, they are delivered to the homes of volunteer puppy raisers who live within driving distance of The Seeing Eye. Over the course of a year and a half, puppy raisers host a puppy in their home. The family provides love, care, obedience training and social exposure to assist the puppy in becoming a future Seeing Eye® dog. They teach the puppies basic manners and commands, and socialize them to a variety of social situations and experiences that range from shopping and car rides, to visiting airports and boarding airplanes.

History of The Seeing Eye

The Seeing Eye was incorporated in Nashville, Tennessee, on January 29, 1929. In 1931, the organization relocated to Whippany, NJ, because the climate in the northeast was more suitable for training dogs.

On June 5, 1965, the cornerstone was laid for the current headquarters in Morris Township, NJ.

Renovations to the Washington Valley headquarters were completed in 2013. The 60-acre campus is home to the administrative offices, student residence, veterinary clinic and kennels. In 2001, a breeding station was built on 330 acres in Chester, NJ, which houses the adult breeding dogs and puppies until they are eight weeks old. An additional training center is located in Morristown. The Seeing Eye is the oldest existing guide dog school in the world and continues its role as a pioneer in the guide dog movement.

The Seeing Eye has played an integral part in shaping public policy guaranteeing access and accommodation to people who use service animals. From developing a computer information system that calculates the suitability of every dog in the colony to become a breeder, to funding cutting edge research in DNA sequencing and identifying genetic markers for degenerative eye disease, The Seeing Eye is a research leader in canine genetics, breeding, disease control and behavior. The organization is a founding member of the Council of U.S. Guide Dog Schools and a fully accredited member of the International Guide Dog Federation.
