Former FUHS student and faculty member Bill Brown was also a filmmaker. His projects include Dream Rider (1992), The Hidden Epidemic (2008) and The American Combat Soldier (1983).

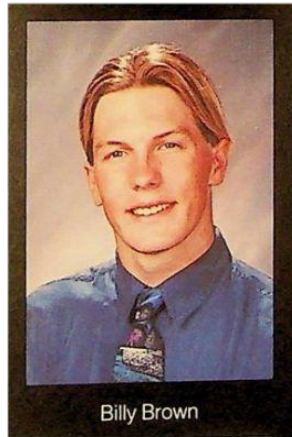

After graduating from Fullerton in 1996, Brown attended the University of Massachusetts, where he became the 100 and 200 breaststroke Atlantic-10 Champion in the 1999-2000 season, qualifying for the Olympic Trials that same year.

The Swim team has had a very productive year so far. Billy Brown has already qualified for CIF in two events and has broken school records. Other members of the team such as, Andy Mulay, Josh Bernier, and Scott Naples have also qualified for CIF in many events. The team has come a long way, especially for having a new coach this year.

Billy Brown (left) and Bill Brown (right) live in Idaho, but the two former FUHS swim stars plan to move to Hawaii in the near future.
