Conference Scholarships

We are grateful to the generous sponsors who made it possible for professionals, students, and community leaders from across North America to attend the ICRG Conference.

Thanks to the support of BetRivers, Playtech, Potawatomi Hotel Casino, WondrNation, and Sands, ICRG awarded 41 conference scholarships, representing nearly $40,000 in support, including both travel scholarships and complimentary conference registrations.

These scholarships supported a diverse and interdisciplinary group of attendees:

- 24% students and trainees, helping build the next generation of gambling research and prevention professionals
- Over 50% treatment providers, nonprofit leaders, and problem gambling council staff, directly engaged in prevention, treatment, and outreach
- Researchers, academic faculty, public health professionals, and those with lived experience, strengthening the bridge between science, policy, and practice

By reducing financial barriers to participation, our sponsors helped ensure the conference included voices from frontline care, community-based organizations, public health agencies, and emerging scholars. This support is critical to advancing evidence-informed approaches to responsible gambling and harm prevention.

We sincerely thank our scholarship sponsors for investing in people, knowledge exchange, and the future of the field.
