July 25 - 31

Education Theme - Olympics, Faith & More : July 26 - 28

This series explores the history of the Olympics and examines how they integrate with three of the four Chautauqua Pillars: Education, Recreation/Wellness, and Religious Life. Sessions with Rev. Dr. Greg Linville on "Muscular Christianity" provides a foundation for engaging in civil conversations about controversial topics regarding athletics, sports, bioethics, and religion. Group discussions will encourage the integration of faith and sport, create better understanding and appreciation of different perspectives, initiate, and deepen relationships, and help to make sense of current sporting issues. Week also includes fun activities and programs on Olympic history and traditions.

Education Theme - Flying to the Past : July 29 - 31

Explore aviation by going back to the past with historian Todd Hackbarth and members from the Liberty Aviation Museum. These programs are perfect for the whole family to experience the development of flight as a means of transportation and innovation, as well as this region's unique history with air flight.
