LEVERAGING PHARMACISTS TO ADDRESS SDOH

EFFORTS TO ADDRESS SDOH are on the rise across the U.S. health care system. Determined to turn the tide against poor patient outcomes, public and private payers are supporting innovative care delivery that holistically addresses patients' needs. At the same time, health systems, physicians, pharmacists and other care providers are partnering with community organizations to address the social conditions that stand between patients and the health outcomes they want and deserve. These efforts can be strengthened by a greater utilization of pharmacists. As trusted providers embedded in the community, pharmacists are pivotal partners for screening, evaluation, services and connecting individuals with resources.

ABOUT PQA AND SDOH

PQA IS THE NATION'S LEADING DEVELOPER of consensus-based measures for medication safety, adherence and appropriate use. A non-profit organization with more than 250 diverse members across healthcare, PQA's quality initiatives support improvements in medication use and medication services. PQA's SDOH efforts are focused on access to care and expanding pharmacist-provided care. We foster partnerships that position pharmacists as indispensable patient partners and clinical care team members. And we leverage quality measurement to identify and address the factors that impact a patient's ability to gain access to needed medications. Access is a major factor in medication adherence, and non-adherence costs the U.S. healthcare system $100 billion to $289 billion annually.
