Portrait Photography	1	MLive.com/Flint Journal	Super bowl dreams	Jake May	The first-place winning portrait of 83-year-old Larry Benjamin lying in hospice care with blue-dyed hair, is a deeply poignant and visually stunning image. The photograph masterfully combines powerful storytelling with artistic composition, capturing a moment that is both intimate and symbolic. The striking contrast between the blues and whites creates a visual harmony that draws the viewer's eye while emphasizing the emotional weight of the scene. The soft natural light falling across his body adds a gentle warmth, enhancing the tenderness of the moment without detracting from its gravity. The texture of Larry's hands and arms, juxtaposed against the smooth fabric of the jersey,

Sports Photography	1	Ann Arbor News	Mud bowl	Jacob Hamilton	In this extraordinary photograph, the raw essence of collegiate competition is distilled into a single, breathtaking moment—the 90th Michigan Mud Bowl transformed from a simple fraternity football match into an epic tableau of youthful exuberance and athletic determination. The winning image captures a heart-stopping instant of athletic prowess: a fraternity brother suspended mid-air while an opponent lunges to tackle him through a sea of thick, churning mud. The photographer's impeccable timing freezes this moment of athletic struggle, transforming a chaotic muddy contest into a near-classical composition of motion and tension. What elevates this photograph beyond mere

Community/Local News Report	1	Hour Detroit Magazine	Who's Got The Kids?	Stephanie Steinberg	Excellent article, very well written and filled with good statistics. Writer did extensive research locally and nationally on the child care crisis and then put the human face on the story by including families and working moms faced with the dilemma of taking care of their children. Package includes good information on where to go for help, who to contact and how parents can get involved. Very good community article. Nice photos and layout made the package even better. Kudos to a good writer. The story is very readable, timely and helpful.
