

How might a Search Team let a candidate know that they are no longer being considered?

A simple email with this (or similar text) would suffice.

Thank you for the privilege of reviewing your ministerial profile.

At this point in our discernment process, we are no longer considering additional candidates. We hope to be in negotiations very soon with a candidate who seems to be a particularly good fit to lead and serve with us as we attend closely to God's call for this congregation.

May God continue to bless you as you discern and respond to God's call for you!
