Leadership Council Highlights

Laura Hamby, Moderator

Now there are varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit; and there are varieties of services, but the same Lord; ... it is the same God who activates all of them in everyone... for the common good.

1 Corinthians 12:4-7 selected (NRSV)

Task Teams! I believe this scripture speaks to the work of NACCC Ministry Council Task Teams ~ For the Common Good! Our articles and bylaws state: "Ministry Councils may appoint task teams to assist with their areas of responsibility..." "Task teams have become so effective that, in practice, the Leadership Council and Boards also appoint Task Teams.

Task Teams are, in many ways, the heartbeat of the NACCC. Although ultimate responsibility rests with elected leadership, it is the both the short and long-term work of Task Teams that allow us to maintain the ongoing ministries and services of the councils and boards. Likewise, it is often Task Teams who explore and set direction for new programs. I invite you to consider sharing your gifts for the common good by serving on a Task Team. Board of Directors Highlights

Jim Waechter, Vice Moderator

We have a variety of workshops at our Annual Meeting & Conference at Piedmont College, June 24-27, 2017. One workshop is aimed at opening up the lines of communication between the NACCC and our member churches. The Rev. Dr. Michael Chittum, Executive Director of the NACCC, will discuss plans for recruiting and training volunteer "Ambassadors." Ambassadors will visit their neighboring member churches and bring greetings and assistance from the NACCC. The goal is to recruit 70 ambassadors who will each serve a number of churches. Through this program, we hope to contact and visit our 340+ member churches. Please join us for this important workshop.

From Our Churches

First Congregational Church of Fall River, MA held a Blessing of the Animals on May 21.

North Manchester Congregational Christian Church of North Manchester, IN hosted a Fish Fry on May 19 to raise funds for their missions program.

On May 27, East Orrington Congregational Church of Orrington, ME hosted a spaghetti dinner to help veterans purchase service dogs.

A Civil War reenactment took place at Little Brown Church in the Vale of Nashua, Iowa on May 21.

Congregational Church of Bound Brook held a toy and clothing drive for Big Brothers/ Big Sisters May 27-28.

Board of Governors Highlights

Varn Philbrook, President, Board of Governors

Your Board of Governors - often wonder who we are and what we do. Quite frankly we are you! Our composition draws from laity and clergy from across the NACCC. We are selected by the Board with the goal of attracting persons of known capability who willingly give their time, talent and financial resources to support the Foundation and the greater NACCC. Our purpose is to increase the financial stability of the NACCC. We do this through solicitations of gifts, by managing the fund drawdown rate which provides yearly income in support of the Shared Ministries Fund. We also ensure that funds spent are properly used in accordance with either donor wishes or the purpose of that particular fund.

We continually seek hard working individuals that have a proven record of serving the NACCC and who are capable of meeting the board obligations.

WELCOME TO DEMOREST AND NORTHEAST GEORGIA!

“Dreaming, Talking and Acting” is the theme of the upcoming NACCC Annual Meeting & Conference, June 24–27, 2017, in Demorest, Georgia. Your hosts, Piedmont College and Demorest Methodist-Congregational Federated Church, welcome you and look forward to a conference of renewal and fellowship.

The theme is taken from a quotation by civil rights pioneer Lillian E. Smith, who attended Piedmont and lived nearby when she wrote about segregation in the U.S. from the 1940s to the 1960s. The four-day event will feature three Bible lectures by the Rev. Dr. Barbara Brown Taylor, the Harry R. Butman Professor of Religion at Piedmont and author of 13 books on preaching and religion.

While here, take time to experience the natural beauty and local attractions of northeast Georgia. Demorest may be a small town, but it is big on hospitality and Congregational history. Piedmont College, where many of you will be staying, was founded in 1897, and has been affiliated with Congregational churches since 1901. A short walk brings you to the historic Methodist Congregational Federated Church, which was built in 1908.

Demorest is in the green foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, and there are nine state and national parks nearby, including lakes Russell and Burton in Habersham County and Lake Lanier Islands Water Park. Whether you drive through the Blue Ridge Mountains, or walk the many scenic trails, there are waterfalls, trout streams, and mountain views to explore in every direction.

You can visit and dine at more than a half-dozen local wineries, or spend a day on the links at some of Georgia's most beautiful golf courses. Northeast Georgia is home to numerous small towns that take pride in retaining their mountain heritage. You'll find plenty of restaurants in Demorest, Cornelia, and Clarkesville, or venture out to the City of Helen, modeled after a Bavarian village, just up the road.

The cities of Athens, Atlanta, and Greenville (S.C.) are an easy drive. In Atlanta, you can take in a Braves' game in their new stadium, or visit the renowned Atlanta Zoo, Aquarium, or Stone Mountain Park. Atlanta is also home to the Carter Center Library and Museum, the Martin Luther King Jr. Historic Site, and the High Museum of Art. For more information, start with a visit to www.piedmont.edu/naccc2017.

So let us say it first: “Welcome y’all!”

WORKSHOPS (subject to change)

How to Sponsor a Mission will touch on itinerating visiting Missionaries and will include a panel discussion.

It Couldn't Happen Here - Or Could It? Once upon a time, the lack of peace and safety church leaders worried about mostly happened somewhere else. Now, the rise in deadly shootings and other crimes has disproportionately visited churches. Join us as the Growth Ministry Council helps you understand the need for a plan and the pieces to put in place for a safe church.

Write it Right and Write it Now! Ever read something and think, I could write like this! Here's your chance! NACCC annually publishes devotional booklets for the Advent and Lenten seasons. These short devotions are composed by lay people and pastors just like you. Join our writing workshop for information, ideas, and to write a devotion!

The Church and Law Enforcement Recent, negative events have created a tenuous relationship between law enforcement and the community. This workshop will present ways in which the church can become actively involved in developing a positive relationship between law enforcement and the community.

Small, Medium or Large. Thriving Congregational churches come in all sizes.

Three ministers from NACCC churches speak on successful programs in their churches.

- Rev. Sarah Gladstone, First Congregational Church, Saugatuck, MI, represents a small-size church.
- Rev. Les Wicker, First Congregational Church, Naples, FL, represents a medium-size church.
- Rev. Bill Trump, First Congregational Church Wauwatosa, WI, represents a large-size church.

What are young parents looking for in a church? Karen Massey, a professional in Christian Education, helps answer this important question. Karen is the Associate Professor of Christian Education and Faith Development at the McAfee School of Theology, Mercer University, Atlanta. She teaches Faith Development, Worship, Church Administration, Christian Education, and Women's studies. Karen is a founding member and past president of the Christian Educators' Network, a professional ecumenical organization for ministers in the field of Christian education.

How to successfully resolve church conflict David Brubacker, a nationally respected expert in church conflict resolution, discusses what can be done when a church is in conflict. David, a member of Congregational Consulting Group, was formerly with the Alban Institute. He wrote Promise and Peril, which presented discoveries from his dissertation research on congregational conflict. He has consulted with congregations for over 25 years and is a professor at Eastern Mennonite University.

Preaching with Imagination: Preaching that Keeps the Preacher's Soul Alive Rev. Brett Younger, Senior Minister, Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, NY, conducts a workshop for ministers answering questions: How does a preacher keep offering a fresh and lively word? Can the preparation and delivery of sermons be a source of spiritual renewal week in and week out? Learn ways preachers can engage their own journey, the Scripture, the church, and the world. Brett previously served eight years as a preaching professor at the McAfee School of Theology, Mercer University, Atlanta, Georgia.

Why you should consider becoming an Ambassador to NACCC churches Rev. Michael Chittum, Executive Director, NACCC, discusses plans for recruiting and training volunteer Ambassadors to visit neighboring NACCC churches, bringing greetings and assistance from the national organization. The goal is to contact and visit our 350+ churches. This means recruiting and training 70 Ambassadors to each contact and visit on average 5 churches.

Exploring the History of American Congregationalism

This workshop explains the main distinctives of the Congregational tradition, and how it changed and developed over time. It will also answer the question "Were there Congregationalists south of the Mason-Dixon line?"

Being a 'First Responder': How to Identify and Encourage Gifts for Ministry in the Local Church

Pastors, lay leaders, and members of our churches can be "first responders" in recognizing the presence of gifts for ministry and fostering a sense of vocation in those who possess them. "First responders" work to connect those who are called with the education and support required to serve our churches. Learn to cultivate the instincts and skills needed to be a "first responder" from those who have been involved in receiving or confirming a call to ministry!

Learn about indexing your investment portfolio

Indexing seeks to give you the most of what the markets offer, without the additional manager risk associated with active management. Learn how Vanguard uses index investing in the Congregational Investment Trust (CIT), available to all NACCC member churches, and how indexing can play a key role in any portfolio. Eric Salzer, Senior Investment Consultant from Vanguard Institutional Advisory Services who manages the CIT portfolio with the CIT Oversight Committee, will lead the discussion, answer questions, and explain how index investing helps the CIT achieve its goals.

Extending Congregational and Individual Prayer Life

This workshop, led by members of the Congregational Society of Classical Retreat Guides, will introduce the Society's efforts to promote the devotional life within Congregational churches and among their members, and explain Quiet Days and Silent Retreats. Participants will have the opportunity to practice prayer that is typically part of Society offering.

How your congregation can better serve, and make a difference in its community

Does your church contribute to the social betterment of its surrounding community? What social gospel values guide its mission and outreach ministries? Who are you becoming as a congregation in service to your neighbors? This workshop will discuss the core biblical, human, and social values on which a vision for a dynamic social service ministry modeled on the compassion of Jesus may be built.

Reimagining Church

For nearly three decades U.S. Mainline Protestant churches have struggled to grow, numerically and spiritually. There are multiple reasons for the exodus of Boomers and Gen Xers, and the unwillingness of Millennials to join churches. This workshop focuses on two: 1) Folks exiting/not participating in churches value a missional focus, and 2) these same folks are community-centric. It suggests that a church perceived to be anything other than community-centric will experience a lessening of influence and participation in the coming years.
