National Association of Congregational Christian Churches: Community Connections- August 1, 2017

Annual Meeting & Conference Highlight

Jim Waechter, Vice Moderator, Varn Philbrook, President, Board of Governors

What a success the Annual Meeting & Conference was! At the meeting, which was held June 24-27 at Piedmont College, the Board of Directors and Board of Governors came together and set several goals that they will jointly work on for the coming year.

Your NACCC Board of Directors and Board of Governors set several initiatives. One, for example, is the consolidation of all the NACCC endowed funds to be managed by the Board of Governors. This action will simplify the accounting and improve the managing of the funds that many former members and donors have given as bequests to the NACCC.

Another joint effort, which was voted on by the delegates, at this year's meeting involves transferring the payroll expenses for the two key employees who are responsible for the fundraising and communications of the NACCC.

The functional transfer from the Board of Governors to the Board of Directors will not be implemented until our 2018-2019 fiscal year. This change will provide all member churches a more precise accounting of the entire staffing costs involved in running the Association.

The Board of Governors will continue to provide, through the Association's Executive Director, those goals and objectives for the Associations fundraising and communications programs. Meanwhile the Board of Directors will continue to oversee all budgeting functions and monitor all program expenditures for the NACCC.

One primary focus for the coming years is to continue to provide guidance and assistance so our local churches not only survive, but thrive. The efforts on the part of both Boards will be aimed at making this happen.

At the meeting, we were fortunate enough to hear a lecture from Barbara Brown Taylor, noted Christian author.
