

Detainee population spikes to highest level since 2019

As of March 23, ICE held 47,892 people in custody across its network of at least 107 facilities nationwide. Over the years, the agency has requested funding for a range of detention bed counts, including just 34,000 beds for fiscal year 2025.

