

February 21st, 2023

What a better way to celebrate Mardi Gras than with a little bit of lagniappe – free dinner!

Please join St. John's Knights of Columbus for their Fifth Annual Fat Tuesday Fish Fry at Egan Hall - 123 N 79th St. Seattle, WA 98103 on February 21st, 2023.

This year, we will be offering BOTH dinners to-go as well as in-house dining. In order to ensure everyone gets hot food and does not have to wait too long, the Knights ask that you and your family sign up for a particular timeslot to get your dinners. The Knights will be distributing dinners in half-hour blocks of time starting at 5:00pm. Once you and your family have received your dinners, feel free to take it home, or join us in Egan Hall to eat as a community! To decrease the impact on our neighbors, we ask that everyone please park in the parking lot and walk over to Egan Hall to pick up your dinners.

Please sign up online at: <http://bit.ly/3XQkkFU>

For dinner, the Knights will be serving two pieces of wild Alaskan pollock fried to a crispy golden perfection with tartar sauce, a serving of “chips” (which are really just french fries...), and side of coleslaw. And, who knows, it's Fat Tuesday, the Knights might have something else too!

While the Knights are not charging anything for anyone's fish dinners, they encourage everyone celebrating Fat Tuesday and the start of Lent with them to make a free will donation (in any amount – acceptable in the form of cash or checks payable to Knights of Columbus) to help them pay for various charities: Catholic Community Services, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and rosaries for St. John's First Communicants.
