

Vargo Medical Illustration

I am a freelance medical illustrator with a focus on high quality digital illustrations. I have been drawing professionally since 2014, but unlike most illustrators, my background is in medicine. I am a craniofacial and pediatric plastic surgeon at Children's Hospital and Medical Center in Omaha, NE and Assistant Professor at the University of Nebraska Medical Center. My medical training provides the unique ability to understand what a physician/reader is looking for when viewing an image, as well as what the author is trying to visually convey. This background also streamlines the consultation process as prolonged explanation of medical background or surgical anatomy is required.

I can provide line art, graphic art and logo design, or high detail color illustrations based upon an author's individual needs. All artwork is created within Corel Painter, Adobe Illustrator, and/or Adobe Photoshop. Pricing is determined on an individual basis, taking into considering the number of images requested, detail required, complexity of the design, and timeline for completion. Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or to discuss potential opportunities.

I look forward to working with you!
