

Partners in Prevention

Volume 19, Issue 2, February 2017

Call for Presentations, Sponsors for 2017 FLASH National Disaster Resilience Conference

FLASH is seeking dynamic presenters for our 2017 National Disaster Resilience Conference: Science, Policy, and Practice. The conference is Oct. 25 - 27 at the Hyatt Regency in Atlanta. This gathering of thought leaders, policymakers, and subject matter experts from the disaster safety movement is the premier conference on disaster resilience.

Presenter abstracts should focus on:

- Science – to support preparedness, response, recovery, and/or mitigation;
- Policy – to advance resilience through strong building codes, smart finance, marketplace incentive programs, tax benefits, and innovation such as Big Data and smart home technology; and
- Practice – to include advocates, building and fire code officials, communicators, emergency managers, engineers, futurists, insurance professionals, journalists, leaders, merchants, meteorologists, product manufacturers, public officials, researchers, and scientists.

Click here for the complete call for presentations and submission form. Please submit your abstract to info@flash.org no later than Thursday, March 2. Selected presenters will be notified by April 27. For more information, email info@flash.org or call (877) 221-SAFE (7233).

Interested in sponsoring the 2017 FLASH National Disaster Resilience Conference? Join BASF, the International Code Council, ISO, Genest Concrete Works, and the Lightning Protection Institute to help underwrite this important event. This opportunity will get your name and message as a leader in the disaster-safety and resilience movement in a positive light in front of hundreds of attendees. You can download sponsorship information here.