

2018 National Weatherperson of the Year Named
NDRC Keynote Speaker

Meteorologist Ada Monzón will be a featured keynote speaker at the 2018 National Disaster Resilience Conference (NDRC) during November in Clearwater Beach, FL.

The FLASH Board of Directors chose Ada as National Weatherperson of the Year for her contributions to the disaster safety movement and dedicated service to her home of Puerto Rico. She is the Chief Meteorologist at WIPR-TV, Noticias 24/7, and Univision Radio (WKAQ 580 am), and the first female American Meteorological Society Fellow and Certified Broadcast Meteorologist in Puerto Rico.

Her standout service during 2017 provided invaluable reassurance as the U.S. territory prepared for the most devastating disaster in the island's modern history. She closely followed Hurricane Irma as it passed through the Caribbean and then helped the population prepare and remain calm throughout Hurricane Maria, one of the deadliest and costliest natural disasters on record.

Last month, Partners in Prevention announced that Dave Shull, CEO of The Weather Channel, also will serve as a keynote speaker.

The NDRC is a premier leadership conference that brings together the nation's foremost voices in the disaster safety and resilience movement, drawing a diverse crowd of experts and organizations across all sectors.

Click here for early bird registration with special pricing and early accommodation reservations for those representing academic, corporate, government, nonprofit, organizations, as well as students and speakers.

Several levels of sponsorship are available to spotlight businesses, showcase products, and enjoy invaluable networking opportunities with leaders in the movement. Sponsors will join Gold Sponsor BASF, Silver Sponsors ISO and PCA, and Bronze Sponsor Smart Vent to help underwrite this important gathering.

Click here now to register, save, and sponsor, or visit the National Disaster Resilience Conference website for more information.