To play means doing the things we do just for fun – just because we want to do them!

Play opens our hearts to new possibilities and lets us rest the parts of ourselves we use too much - at work, school, and for doing all the things we have to do.

We Unitarian Universalists like working for justice and equality, we like caring for our good planet earth.

But we like to play, too.

We like to play with theology and spirituality using music, art, stories and dance with our friends, neighbors and children!

In the spirit of Play, we light this chalice!
