

Glue Sun Catcher

Supplies:

- clear craft glue
- Food coloring or liquid watercolor
- Parchment paper
- Cookie cutters in various shapes
- Small tray or baking sheet to hold suncatchers while they dry
- Straw or thin object for creating holes (optional)

Instructions:

1. Begin by lining your tray or baking sheet with parchment paper to create a smooth surface for your suncatchers.
2. In a bowl, pour your craft glue. You want enough glue to create several suncatchers; about one cup is a good starting point.
3. Add a few drops of food coloring or liquid watercolor to the glue, stirring gently until the color blends beautifully.
4. Take a spoon or spatula and carefully scoop the glue mixture onto the parchment paper. Spread it into the shape of your choice using cookie cutters or a freeform design.
5. If you wish to create hanging suncatchers, use a straw to gently poke a hole at the top of each suncatcher. This will allow for easy hanging once they're dry.
6. Allow the suncatchers to dry for at least 24 hours. As they dry, you can watch them transform as the colors solidify and shine.
7. Once completely dry, gently peel the suncatchers from the parchment paper. They should feel smooth and sturdy in your hands, ready to dance in the light.
