

Ready for calmer days at home?

Does it feel like you've tried every parenting style and nothing seems to work?

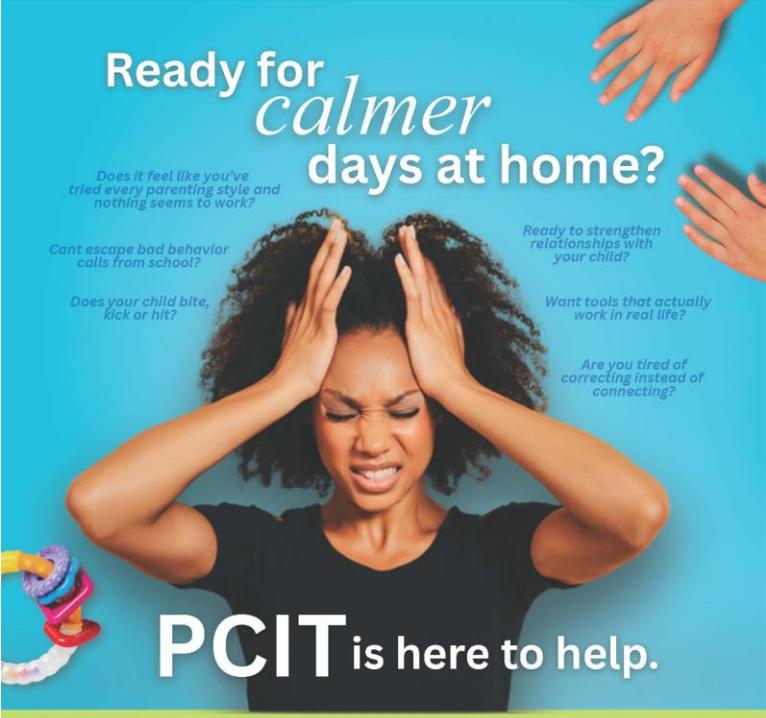

Can't escape bad behavior calls from school?

Does your child bite, kick or hit?

Ready to strengthen relationships with your child?

Want tools that actually work in real life?

Are you tired of correcting instead of connecting?

PCIT is here to help.

What is PCIT?

PCIT (Parent Child Interactive Therapy) is an evidence-based treatment for children with emotional and/or behavioral concerns. Through hands-on learning, it helps improve the child's skills of listening, following directions, understanding consequences, and strengthening parent-child connections. Caregivers learn effective tools to parent with greater confidence, less stress, and more enjoyment! PCIT Treatment lasts approximately 12-20 visits, based on each family's unique needs. AprilMay professionals will work together to curate a customizable plan while ensuring you feel confident using your new skills. Many families start seeing positive changes very early in treatment!

How do I know if PCIT is the right fit?

PCIT may be a good fit for your family if:
Your child is between the ages of 2-7

You're experiencing frequent tantrums, defiance, or big emotional reactions

You want hands-on coaching, not just advice

You're looking to strengthen your relationship with your child while improving behavior

This evidence-based approach helps parents build confidence, connection, and consistency—right in the moments that matter most.
