All of these applications have the Bible in written and audio form. They all have commentaries to explain the scripture you are studying. All of the apps are free except for Hallow. It is free during Advent and Lent.

The Bible is a daily Bible study which gets you through the Bible in one year. It has a youth version. See below.

YouVersion Holy Bible has extensive ways to study the Bible. By book, theme, etc.

Bible Gateway is a great reference tool with search capabilities, multiple translations & commentaries, and study plans.

The Bible Project allows you to study the Bible with videos, podcasts, classes, and articles. It has a search capability to allow you to study by a diverse number of topics. Think of it as a Kahn Academy for the Bible.

Hallow is a Catholic resource with a wide variety of prayer, morning routines, games, devotionals, rosaries & novenas, and masses.

There are also apps for centering prayer and daily office prayer (Venite) for the Anglican tradition of the Episcopal church (morning, noonday, evening, and compline prayer).
