

In Loving Memory of

Frederick “Fred” Bouma

1933 - 2025

Fred began his career with FIU on June 14, 1974, as an associate professor for the College of Arts, Sciences & Education. Over the years, Fred held various roles, including associate dean and academic advisor for the College of Arts, Sciences & Education. After retiring in 2003, his passion for supporting the FIU community brought him back to the university, where he continued guiding students and colleagues until 2017. He will be greatly missed, and his indelible contributions to FIU and those he served will never be forgotten.

Fred is survived by his son, John Bouma, as well as his brother, James Bouma. Please keep his family and loved ones in your thoughts and prayers.

In honor of Fred’s legacy, a Celebration of Life will be held on Wednesday, March 12, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the College of Business Complex (CBC), room 233, Modesto A. Maidique Campus (MMC). Be sure to RSVP to confirm your attendance. For more information, please contact Maricel Cigales via email.
