

Economic justice is about dignity — and right now, too many Pennsylvanians are being pushed to the margins by rising costs and unequal systems.

UUJusticePA's Economic Justice Team advocates for policies that put people first. Their work has helped expand Medicaid, block predatory payday lending, support Fight for $15 campaigns, and protect families from harmful health policy.

This is Unitarian Universalist values in action.

As we prepare for 2026, sustaining this advocacy requires strong statewide support. If economic justice matters to you, we invite you to Meet the Moment with a year-end gift.

Stand with us to advance policies that protect working families and vulnerable communities.
