

CHANGE STORIES:

Letter from a CHTI Graduate

Firstly, I thank Solidarity with South Sudan in its mission for the people of South Sudan and thank them more for standing with me throughout my study time in Kenya till my completion of the training.

More appreciation to the selection process of students to further study in nursing profession to empower me in leadership roles in preparation of managing my own country.

The most determinant factor coupled with my academic performance in the completion of the course is the financial support which eased and made me a successful student in the university.

The role played by Solidarity staff in both CHTI and Juba Office has changed my personality to love humanity.

Today I live an exemplary life in CHTI and South Sudan at large because Solidarity has brought a total change in my life and I promised to honour the bonding agreement.

Conclusively I give thanks to those who made me reached this far and promised my commitment to serve in the Nursing profession.

God bless you

BSN.Yatta Ben Manoah.
