Even though the calendar says “summer” and the school year has ended, there’s still lots happening in and around our schools!

Our custodians and maintenance staff will be very busy cleaning every classroom in every school over the summer months. This can prove to be very challenging as they need to work around the many summer programs that are occurring over the next few months. In addition to our three student learning programs - Summer Reading Academy, Extended School Year (ESY) Program and KinderKamp - there are several opportunities of Professional Development offered to our staff. Staff will get together to review/modify curriculum, new staff will have an orientation, our secretarial/administrative assistants will meet to preview the upcoming school year, and many staff, including our bus drivers, will be trained in various medical trainings, such as first aid and CPR, to name a few.

Other activities that will be taking place over the next few months include welcoming an interim superintendent in August, Sandy Prince, saying good-bye and good luck to out-going superintendent, Julie Kuenberger, and for the month of July, having Assistant Superintendent Jo Anne Sizemore act as a one-month interim superintendent. Our Leadership Team will be busy hiring new staff to replace those who have retired or have chosen to move on to a different district.

Another considerable project that began as soon as students were dismissed for the summer, is the addition of two portable classrooms being added to Eight Corners School. Due to the huge influx in enrollment slated for this primary school, the extra classrooms are necessary to accommodate its growing student population.
