

CBICC hosts third annual Membership Recognition Night

The Chamber of Business & Industry of Centre County held its third annual Membership Recognition Night event on Thursday, Feb. 16 at the Bryce Jordan Center. Sponsored by Comcast Spotlight, the event served as a celebration of Chamber members, specifically recognizing three individuals who went above and beyond in their support of the CBICC in 2016. Nearly 200 business, community and government leaders were on hand as the CBICC honored the following:

2016 CBICC Volunteer of the Year: Jeff Stachowski, Community Outreach Director, South Hills School of Business & Technology

2016 CBICC Friend of the Chamber: Mark Bamat, GB Accounting Services

2016 CBICC Ambassador of the Year: Joy Vincent-Killian, Catering Sales Manager, Penn State Hospitality Services

The Chamber also recognized individuals that participated in the inaugural mentorship program of CBICC Connect, the CBICC's young professionals group. Mentors and mentees received certificates of completion from mentorship program coordinator and CBICC Connect member Heidi Wrights, Financial Center Community Manager, PSECU.

In addition to Comcast Spotlight, sponsors included Graphics & Design; PSECU; Keystone Payroll and Lion Country Lodging.
