The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio Joe R. and Teresa Lozano Long School of Medicine

Chair, Radiology

The Long School of Medicine at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio (dba UT Health San Antonio) seeks an individual with an outstanding record of operational leadership, clinical activities, research and educational achievement, and faculty/trainee recruitment and mentoring as its Chair for the Department of Radiology. Dynamic leadership, clear communication, strong interpersonal skills, and a keen strategic vision are crucial characteristics required for success. Reporting to the Dean of the Long School of Medicine, the Chair will be responsible for continuing to build and maintain excellence in robust clinical and research programs, high quality graduate and undergraduate medical education, and a collegial interactive culture.

Candidates must have a MD, and academic experience consistent with eligibility for full Professor with tenure, and must be board certified in the respective professional board with practice experience. The ideal candidate will have a widely recognized national reputation in their field. The ability to foster a culture of collaboration, innovation, and accountability across the Health Science Center is important. This is a wonderful opportunity for a visionary leader. UT Health San Antonio is a research-intensive institution located in San Antonio and it sits in the gateway to the picturesque Texas Hill Country. San Antonio is a vibrant, multicultural city with year-round recreational activities and an attractive cost-of-living.
