

Clinical Chief and Leader of Translational Research in Breast Oncology Roswell Park Comprehensive Cancer Center

Roswell Park Comprehensive Cancer Center is seeking a Clinical Chief to develop a robust translational research program in breast medical oncology. The successful candidate will join one of the top comprehensive cancer programs in the nation and harness the vast resources of Roswell Park to push forward the development of novel therapies to fight breast cancer. The new Clinical Chief will develop a nationally regarded program in translational research and early-phase clinical research in breast cancer. This will be fueled by a large untapped regional market of accruals and realized by the new leader's vision to put Roswell Park on the national map for breast cancer care. Candidates must be MDs or MD/PhDs at the Associate or Full Professor level with significant experience in translational research.

Opportunity Highlights

- Oversee all aspects of breast medicine oncology
- Set the clinical and scientific strategic goals for the Division with an emphasis on early-phase clinical research to enhance accrual of breast oncology patients to clinical trials and increase overall market share
- Use a vast amount of Roswell Park's resources to develop novel immunotherapy treatments in breast cancer
- Total commitment of executive leadership to build a world-class program in breast oncology translational research
- Become a nationally known leader in breast cancer research by developing your own team
- Build Roswell's reputation for developing cancer therapies in immunotherapy and promote its visibility in this area
- Participate in the education mission for fellows, residents, APPs, and faculty
- Roswell Park is the nation's first comprehensive cancer center and the only NCCN-designated center in Upstate NY
- Ranked among the nation's top cancer hospitals by US News and World Report
- Desirable location close to Toronto

Community Information

Live and work in the heart of a thriving medical corridor in a city that has undergone a significant transformation, building on its waterfront on the shores of Lake Erie. You'll enjoy historic architecture; affordable, charming, tree-lined neighborhoods; and proximity to Canada and the Toronto metropolitan area.

- World-renowned symphony orchestra, excellent art gallery, and dozens of universities and colleges, with national and international connections facilitated through the Buffalo Niagara International Airport
- A cost of living nearly 21% lower than the national average
- Excellent public and private schools

- Major league sports town with NFL and NHL team
- An abundance of outdoor recreation, including hiking, biking, paddle boating, and golfing
- Buffalo has an overall grade of A- (Niche)

For additional information please contact Mr. David King at David.king@merritthawkins.com or call (404) 398-2218.