Summary of Opportunity

The Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University (LKSOM) is currently seeking qualified applicants and candidate nominations for the role of Surgical Director, Lung Transplantation within Temple's Department of Surgery. Temple's prestigious lung transplant program is rapidly growing with excellent collaboration with the pulmonologists.

The Surgical Director is responsible for coordinating and directing the lung transplant surgical services for Temple University Hospital. This includes maintaining UNOS certification and CMS certification for both transplant programs and continuing to increase the volume of procedures performed.

The primary focus of the Surgical Director will be the continued expansion of the lung transplant program. The Surgical Director's clinical responsibilities will also include a full spectrum of cardiothoracic surgical procedures.

The incoming Surgical Director will be a respected academic surgeon with a distinguished record of clinical care, teaching, research, leadership and administration. Candidates must possess an M.D. or M.D./Ph.D. with active board certification in Surgery as well as Thoracic and Cardiac Surgery; and credentials that will support a faculty appointment at the rank of Associate Professor/ Professor is preferred. Candidates also must be eligible for unrestricted medical licensure in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Temple Health, one of Philadelphia's leading academic medical centers, is home to more than 1,000 physicians and scientists who share the mission of bringing innovative treatments to patients. Giving our patients access to some of the world's most advanced therapies – and helping them achieve outcomes once thought impossible – is the driving force for all our clinical care, research, and medical education.
