

BRIGHAM AND WOMEN'S HOSPITAL

BRIGHAM AND WOMEN'S HOSPITAL/BRIGHAM
AND WOMEN'S FAULKNER HOSPITAL

HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL
TEACHING HOSPITAL

CHIEF OF EMERGENCY MEDICINE

The Departments of Emergency Medicine at Brigham and Women's Hospital (BWH) and Brigham and Women's Faulkner Hospital (BWFH) are seeking a Chief of the Department of Emergency Medicine at BWFH.

The position of Chief of Emergency Medicine at BWFH includes an academic appointment at Harvard Medical School at an academic rank of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor commensurate with experience, training and achievements, unparalleled opportunities for professional development, and a competitive salary with an outstanding comprehensive benefit package.

Leadership responsibilities include recruiting, developing, and overseeing the medical staff in the BWFH emergency department, establishing and implementing goals for patient safety, quality of care, clinical operations, and inter-service collaboration, and directing peer review and quality improvement activities. Financial responsibilities include oversight for the department's budget and, in collaboration with nursing leadership, assessing and recommending resources to support the highest quality of care for all patients. Administrative responsibilities include participating on senior hospital administrative and clinical care committees and serving on the leadership team in the Brigham Health Department of Emergency Medicine. Teaching responsibilities will involve the teaching of medical students and residents.

Brigham and Women's Faulkner Hospital is a 170-bed, non-profit community teaching hospital located in the desirable Jamaica Plain community in southwest Boston. Founded in 1900, Brigham and Women's Faulkner Hospital offers comprehensive medical, surgical, and psychiatric care, as well as emergency, ambulatory, and diagnostic services. It is a part of Brigham Health, which also includes Brigham and Women's Hospital and Brigham and Women's Physicians Organization. The Department of Emergency Medicine cares for over 30,000 patients per year in a 19 bed ED.

The successful candidate will be board certified in emergency medicine by the American Board of Emergency Medicine, and will have a track record of leadership in emergency medicine with demonstrated abilities and accomplishment in administration and management, a firm commitment to maintaining and further developing the department's strong clinical programs, and an emphasis on strategic, innovative, and collaborative leadership.

Interested candidates should send a letter and Curriculum Vitae to Michael VanRooyen, MD, MPH, Professor and Chair, Department of Emergency Medicine, Brigham and Women's Hospital. Please apply by confidential email to aaho@bwh.harvard.edu by June 15, 2020.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law. We are actively committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty; people with disabilities, veterans, women and members of underrepresented minority groups are therefore strongly encouraged to apply.