

Boston University School of Medicine

Director, Whitaker Cardiovascular Institute / Chief of Cardiovascular Medicine

The Department of Medicine, Boston University School of Medicine and Boston Medical Center are seeking a candidate for the combined position of Director of the Whitaker Cardiovascular Institute (WCVI) and Chief of the Section of Cardiovascular Medicine. In this combined role, the next Director and Chief will be responsible for the research initiatives of the WCVI and providing strategic direction for the growth and development of the Cardiology Section's research, clinical, and training programs. The Director/Chief will lead an extraordinary group of faculty and trainees and have an opportunity to further build on the rich traditions and accomplishments of the Department of Medicine, WCVI, BU School of Medicine, and Boston Medical Center, one of the nation's oldest teaching hospitals with an enduring commitment to caring for the region's diverse and under-served patients.

Successful candidates will have an MD or MD/PhD with national recognition in a field of cardiovascular medicine, outstanding record of research accomplishments, excellent interpersonal and communication skills, and the ability to lead complex clinical and academic programs. Candidates should have at least 10 years of successfully funded research experience and should have demonstrated clinical, administrative and academic accomplishments in the field of cardiovascular medicine as well as a record of successful mentorship.

BU is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.
