Hershey, Pennsylvania

The Pennsylvania State University College of Medicine (Penn State) invites applications and nominations for the position of Chair, Department of Medicine. The successful candidate will be a nationally recognized academic leader with a substantial record of research, teaching, clinical and administrative accomplishments. We seek candidates with prior administrative and leadership experience gained within a Department of Medicine, strong interpersonal and communication skills and demonstrated ability to effectively inspire, manage, mentor and develop faculty and staff. Candidates must hold the degree of M.D. or M.D./Ph.D., be Board-certified in a medicine specialty and possess qualifications for appointment to Professor at Penn State. It is important that the new Chair possess a vision to assure the Department grows in rank and reputation.

The Department of Medicine is comprised of over 200 clinical and research faculty in ten divisions: cardiology; endocrinology, diabetes and metabolism; gastroenterology and hepatology; general internal medicine; hematology and oncology; infectious diseases and epidemiology; nephrology; population health research and development; pulmonary, allergy and critical care medicine; and rheumatology. The Department also has a fully accredited ACMGE residency program with approximately 90 residents including 20 categorical positions, six preliminary positions and four medicine/pediatrics positions. The Department offers 13 fellowship programs. Clinical services are delivered within the complex academic health center, Penn State Milton S. Hershey Medical Center, that includes the hospital, the College of Medicine, and the Medical Group.

Nominations and expressions of interest, including a curriculum vitae and cover letter, should be submitted confidentially via email to PennStateChairMedicine@wittkieber.com.
