

Chief Medical Officer, Ambulatory Care
University of Miami Health System

The University of Miami Health System invites nominations and expressions of interest for the position of Chief Medical Officer for Ambulatory Care.

As South Florida's only comprehensive academic health center, the University of Miami Health System (UHealth) is a vital component of the community. UHealth delivers leading-edge patient care by the region's best doctors, powered by the groundbreaking research and medical education of the University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine. UHealth's comprehensive network includes three hospitals (University of Miami Hospital, Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center, and Anne Bates Leach Eye Hospital, home to the top-ranked Bascom Palmer Eye Institute), more than 30 outpatient facilities in Miami-Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, and Collier counties, and more than 1,200 physicians and scientists.

Reporting to the System Chief Clinical Officer, the Chief Medical Officer, Ambulatory Care (CMO–Ambulatory) will serve as the primary physician administrative lead for all ambulatory services provided by UHealth. As an integral member of the health system and faculty practice plan leadership team, the CMO–Ambulatory will oversee the coordination and integration of primary care and subspecialty units across ambulatory services at UHealth. The successful candidate will work collaboratively with other leaders around the alignment, management and delivery of all ambulatory care services at UHealth including hospital-based, ambulatory, and community-based initiatives. They will provide leadership for ambulatory services in a manner that contributes to the success of UHealth's mission and exemplifies the qualities of leadership, collaboration, communication, and championship.

Korn Ferry is pleased to assist UHealth with this important search. Please forward, as soon as possible, applications or nominations of appropriate candidates, in confidence, to Abigail Ulrich, PhD (c), MHA and Tonika Lam, PhD.
