

Yale University School of Medicine

Department of Orthopaedics & Rehabilitation

Chief, VAMC Orthopaedic Surgery

The Department of Orthopaedics & Rehabilitation at the Yale School of Medicine seeks an experienced surgeon to serve as the Chief of Orthopaedics Surgery at the Veterans Administration Medical Center in West Haven, Connecticut. The incoming candidate is expected to be a known and respected clinician and, an academic leader with a history of success in a leadership role, preferably at an academic medical institution.

The ideal candidate must have leadership experience and be board-certified in orthopaedics. Clinical expertise in total joints is preferred due to a defined surgical need.

OPPORTUNITY HIGHLIGHTS

- Yale School of Medicine faculty position leading the Orthopaedic Service Line at the VA Medical Center
- Maintain responsibility for the education of the orthopaedic residents' rotations through the VA
- Thriving total joints practice—an abundance of surgical cases for the incoming candidate

As a physician at the VA Medical Center, not only will the incoming candidate help to ensure the best care possible for patients, but he or she will serve veterans who have borne battle with honor. Additionally, the VA's variety of care environments, research prospects, and educational support offers limitless room for the provider to grow and advance in his or her career.

WEST HAVEN, CONNECTICUT

Located alongside Long Island Sound in a beautiful region of New England, West Haven is a charming city that offers a remarkable quality of life for all of its residents.

- Exceptional public and private schools as well as local colleges and universities
- Four distinct seasons and endless opportunities for outdoor recreation, including swimming, sailing, skating, hiking, biking, and golfing
- Convenient access to New York and Boston and their many amenities, including international airports, Broadway shows, and professional sporting events
- U.S. News & World Report ranks Connecticut #3 in "Best States for Health Care"

To apply and for more information, please contact:

Andrea Hanson | Director of Recruiting | 214.458.7769

andrea.hanson@merrithawkins.com

<https://apply.interfolio.com/62275>