

The Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center

Medical Director | Occupational Health

The Ohio State University (OSU) is seeking a full-time Occupational Health Medical Director to provide medical oversight and care at our Employee Health Clinic in McCampbell Hall. This position is responsible for ensuring all of OSU's Occupational Health related clinical policies, programs, and outcomes meet OSU's workforce requirements. This position serves as the lead consultant to OSU regarding employee health and safety matters.

The Medical Director is responsible for the strategic planning related to departmental scope, services, procedures, and performance improvement for Occupational Health and its services. The successful candidate will collaborate with the Employee Health Practice Manager to incorporate best practices into operational processes regarding prevention and exposure protocols. The position includes medical evaluation and treatment of employees based on occupational risks and/or injuries. Consultations are supported by Employee Health staff.

Qualifications:

- Board Certified in Occupational Medicine
- Eligible for an Ohio license
- Qualify for an academic appointment – Academic rank and salary will be commensurate with previous training and experience

Environment & Culture:

The Ohio State University along with its academic partner the Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center is located in Columbus, Ohio, the state capitol and the 14th largest city in the United States. From historic communities and suburban living to college crowds and nightlife, Columbus is a friendly Midwestern town with metropolitan style. The city is renowned for its leading technological companies, vast academic resources, thriving industry, an eclectic mix of entertainment, dining and shopping, and easily accessible opportunities for sports and recreation for participants and fans alike. The University and Medical Center are home to an exciting, growth-oriented culture of innovation and discovery.

The Department of Family Medicine is led by Dr. Nwando Olayiwola, as Chair. The department has more than 100 faculty members, residents, and fellows who specialize in family medicine, integrative medicine, women's health, geriatrics, sports medicine, and transgender health.

For more on Columbus, please visit <https://wexnermedical.osu.edu/careers/about-columbus>

For consideration, please send CV along with a cover letter to:

Tiffany Bauman, MBA | Physician and Faculty Recruitment | Tiffany.Bauman@osumc.edu

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
WEXNER MEDICAL CENTER