

Senior Medical Director, Cardiovascular Clinical Program

Intermountain Healthcare invites applications and nominations for the position of Senior Medical Director, Cardiovascular Clinical Program. The Cardiovascular Clinical Program, with 14 functioning subspecialty lines and 106 physicians, is one of Intermountain's longest-standing programs. Intermountain's Clinical Programs focus their work across the continuum of care--guiding and helping people to optimize their health throughout their lifetime and achieving exceptional care whether at home, in a clinic, a hospital or through telehealth.

The Senior Medical Director is a system wide leader with accountability for all physicians within the Cardiovascular service line of Intermountain's network, which spans 5 major regions in Utah, Idaho, and Nevada and includes 24 hospitals, 185 clinics, and a health insurance plan. The new Senior Medical Director will be an outstanding leader and skilled physician, who will work collaboratively in a triad partnership to define, establish, and oversee the ongoing transformation of the Cardiovascular Clinical Program. The Senior Medical Director will be responsible for the leadership, oversight, and support for the development of a culture of high reliability and the measurement of care, identifying opportunities, building relationships, and executing on strategies to drive efficient, high-quality patient care. This individual will work in tandem with operations and nursing officers for the management of the administrative, financial, and clinical performance of the cath labs and surgery program within the Cardiovascular Clinical Program at Intermountain.

Working with key organizational leaders of Intermountain, the Senior Medical Director will align and lead the Cardiovascular Clinical Program in strategic performance and improvement initiatives to ensure the measured outcomes of the program meet the highest standards. The individual must be a respected leader who is operationally savvy, highly knowledgeable in leading a matrixed clinical enterprise, and a visionary leader who can engage diverse stakeholders and work collaboratively with all disciplines. The Senior Medical Director will be a servant leader, dedicated to relationship building, promoting a culture of patient-centered care, and supporting the educational and research mission for the Cardiovascular Clinical Program.
