

Director of the Penn State Psychological Clinic - The Penn State Department of Psychology | Work for a Top 10 Program at a University Rated a Best College | Impactful, High-Level Leadership Opportunity | Highly Desirable Central Pennsylvania Location

The Penn State Department of Psychology in the College of the Liberal Arts is seeking a Director of the Penn State Psychological Clinic. The successful candidate will coordinate clinical services, supervise staff, administer the budget, teach and supervise graduate students in evidence-based therapy and assessment practices, consult with community agencies, develop programs, and facilitate clinical research. Candidates must have a doctorate from an APA- or PCSAS-approved program, have completed an accredited internship, and be eligible for Pennsylvania licensure.

Opportunity Highlights

- Work for a top 10 clinical psychology program at a university rated a Best College by US News & World Report
- Impactful, high-level leadership opportunity – shape the clinic and community health center and training programs
- Primarily administrative leadership role with time, directly and indirectly, supporting clinical, teaching, and research endeavors
- Autonomy over your schedule with a day-to-day structure
- The Psychology Clinic is a fully licensed comprehensive outpatient community mental health center for the region, as well as the training and research site for the PhD program in clinical psychology
- Exceptional training opportunities through the community health center for both child and adult tracks

Community Information—Live and Work in Highly Desirable State College, PA

Penn State is located in State College, PA, a highly desirable college town with an overall grade of A+ and named one of the best places to live in Pennsylvania (Niche). Enjoy the fresh air, short commutes, and tight-knit communities while taking advantage of what surrounding metros—New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, DC— have to offer.

- Excellent public and private schools with honors programs and a full range of sports and extracurricular activities
- Outdoor lover's paradise – lots of green space with access to skiing, fly fishing, hiking, and biking
- Visit Mount Nittany, Yost Run Falls, Kyler Fork Falls, and Black Moshannon State Park
- Safe and affordable communities to live and raise a family
- Several universities with graduate-level programs within short drives
- Enjoy Division 1 sports, museums, local vineyards, and the Arboretum at Penn State

Marisa Penn Griffin

Senior Search Consultant

Physician and Leadership Solutions - Permanent Placement

Empowering the Future of Care

Direct: 314-405-3022

Cell: 314-413-2964

MerrittHawkins.com

